Grand Officers

At all official Provincial events/celebrations, full dress regalia will be worn.

In addition, Grand Officers will be expected to wear tails when:

- Acting as the Personal Representative of the PGM/MEGS at an Installation, or
- If invited to form part of any procession for a meeting at which the Principal Officer is the PGM/Deputy/APGM and in the case of the Royal Arch, it is the MEGS/DepGSupt/2nd or 3rd PGP, APMG or
- If invited to form part of a Grand Lodge/Supreme Grand Chapter Deputation when a Ruler is in attendance

As a matter of principle, it is pertinent to remind Grand Officers of the approach of the Province to certain accepted protocols.

- In the case of a Provincial event/celebration, the Secretariat will take the lead on the organisation of it and work with/advise the Lodge/Chapter as appropriate.
- Part of this will include being advised by the Lodge/Chapter regarding any Grand Officers whom they are aware are attending as guests and particularly, any past Chain Bearers.
- With significant or popular events, it is likely that the number of Grand Officers attending may exceed the number which might comfortably and practicably be accommodated within a procession.
- The final decision concerning who and how many are included is vested in the PGM/MEGS for events at which he is officiating. He will be advised by the Provincial Secretary/Scribe E who will in turn liaise with the Provincial DC when drawing up the processions and then, as a consequence, the seating within the Lodge/Chapter and at the subsequent dining.

In simple terms, if a Grand Officer is invited to form part of a Deputation, he will be expected to wear tails. If not in the Deputation, he will wear a short jacket and sit in from the beginning.

It cannot be emphasised too strongly that all such arrangements should be made in advance of the event and not on the night. Certain difficulties continue to arise where local arrangements or 'custom and practice' have been allowed to evolve and with them, expectations which cannot sometimes be met. It must be appreciated that such approaches have (and continue) to cause difficulties, particularly for the ProvGDC and his team.

Experience provides that last minute changes due to illness or unavoidable absence will occur. The ProvGDC or his Deputy has sole responsibility on the night for managing such eventualities.

Not being included in a procession is not a slight or in any way intended to be disrespectful of one's past position or current rank. In all cases, it will be a clear matter of logistics and practicalities.

Such difficulties are simply negated by Grand Officers speaking with the Secretariat before an event they wish to attend and confirming what role, if any, they may have.
